And in that day of reckoning, When we our debt must pay,

If we live right day by day. He was patient for a child. And asked them not to grieve,

His cares would soon relieve. He requested them to sing; And tried to make them hear

But the angels heard his voice As they were sent from heaven,

By whom his soul was given. He called for father-no response, For brother 'twas the same

For they were far away, and could His little playmates miss him,

But they can think of him As an angel up above.

And now he is waiting to receive You on that happy shore.

So quietly his spirit fled, That we think of the blessed word, That a little child shall lead them,

Black and one to Jacob Miller, perished in the flames. A lot of wheat, corn and hay besides all the farming implement gearing etc., owned by Black and Miller, was also consumed by the red-tongued destroyer. The aggregated loss of all concerned will fully amount to $2,000, and probably more. Black and Miller are poor men, renters, and their losses are especially hard upon them.

in politics, we are alright otherwise. We have two dry-goods stores and one grocery, owned and run by live and enrgetic men, such as W. C. Duncan-all doing a good business.

And besides, our politics, business and business men are to be proud of. The best of all is our new church which is just completed and reflects much credit on the Baptists of this place and others who contributed toward building the church. The people of your place helped us, to whom we are very thankful. The donation of your energetic furniture dealer, Mr. Hanman is highly appreciated, and if he will come to our dedication, we will ee that he has a chair to sit on and something good to eat. The church will be dedicated on the 4th Sunday in this nonth. Rev. W. H. Williams, of Leitchfield will preach the dedicatory sermon.
